Atlanta Alumnae Endow A Scholarship Fund

The Atlanta Alumnae Club, with Dessa (Hays) Asher as president, has started at Wesleyan an endowed scholarship fund to which they plan to add each year.

The fund total is now $1,050.00, and at the rate it is growing it will soon be possible to help several students from Atlanta with the income from this endowment.

Atlanta is the first Wesleyan club to set up an endowed scholarship fund, and the college appreciates deeply their plan to help meet one of the most urgent needs of the institution.

A Message From Alpha Delta Pi

Applications for the Alpha Delta Pi Scholarship of $250 to Wesleyan College should be sent to Mrs. J. C. Anderson, 2616 Stanislaus Place, Macon, Ga., before July 1.

The scholarship is granted each year by the Grand Council of the fraternity to some student who is "daughter, granddaughter, great-granddaughter or some relation to a member of the society."

The Society asks, also, that any members who are willing to give or to lend their pins for the collection in the Adelphean Room send them to: Mrs. I. L. Domingos, 112 Hines Terrace, Macon, Ga. A presentation of the pins will be made at the Centennial Convention of the Society to be held at Wesleyan June 25 to 29 of this year.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

Young Graduates of Wesleyan Go To Foreign Mission Fields

Wesleyan College has had a large part in a dynamic plan of the Methodist Church for rebuilding human souls in the devastation following the worst war in history. Two of her graduates are among the group of young people who have dedicated themselves for three years to the task of teaching the Christian way of life to young people of the most needy countries; Betty Strom, A.B. '49, is in India and Nancy Black, '50 in Cuba, and one of her faculty, Miss Mildred Hudgins, has served on the faculty which gave intensive training to these young "teachers and builders."

The program was started in 1947 when some Board of Missions leaders asked a group of Japanese Christians: "What can the Christians in America do that will help your country most?" The reply was: "Send us some of your young people to rebuild the morale of our young people."

Word was sent out to college young people in America: "Will you go to Japan for three years? Will you accept a salary of $1000 a year, and agree not to marry for this period of service?" Fifty young men and women between the ages of 21 and 28 answered the call. Other Protestant churches joined forces, and "Operation J-3" — Japan for three years — became effective.

Would the plan work? Weren't they too young and too inexperienced? Weren't they going out just for adventure or travel? Would they stick? Could they take it?

It did work. They did such a good job teaching in the mission schools, playing with Japanese young people, living with them in work camps, bringing to them the zest and happiness that American young people have in abundance, coupled with the seriousness of Christian purpose, that the following year a group of "I-3" were sent out — India for three years. Betty Strom went with this group, and has served for a year and a half in Belgaum, India.

Last year the "LA-3's"—Latin America for three years—trained and went to their posts, among these Nancy Black from Wesleyan. Replacements were sent to Japan. Next year the call is for "A-3's" — Africa for three years.

The church spared no pains to give these short-term missionaries the best possible preparation during six weeks on the campus of Hartford Seminary in Connecticut. Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Shacklock came to head the program, Dr. Shacklock taking a year's leave of absence from Drew Theological Seminary where he heads the Department of Missions. Murray Dickson was flown from his mission station in Cochabamba, Bolivia, where he has served for the past seven years to share with the trainees his wealth of experience.

Miss Mildred Hudgins of the Department of religion at Wesleyan, who has spent a term as a full-time missionary in Japan, fits well into the program. Many others, some from mission fields, some from the national staff of the Board of Missions, some outstanding Christian leaders such as Dr. E. Stanley Jones, Dr. George P. Howard, Dr. Edward Blair, Dr. Lowell Hazzard, Dr. Matthew Spinka and others gave of their best to the young people.

The group studied English (from the point of view of a foreigner learning the language), languages (of the respective countries to which they were going), area orientation, and most of all, spiritual resources.

Miss Hudgins says: "I lived with these young people, and I watched the change that came in the group as the weeks passed. I've never seen any group have more fun than they did, but at the same time there was the thrilling experience of growing together until at the end of the six weeks there was a bond that was stronger than any they had ever known before. Their singleness of purpose had made them one, and they had the strength that comes through the acceptance of a common task in the Master's name.

"The highest moment in the summer of '50 came in the last hour with Murray Dickson. He had been trying to orient them for their tasks, and at the end he said, 'I have told you all I know. You are the only ones who can give the real answers. Now it is up to you to go out and do it in God's name. And may He bless you.'

"Murray walked quietly out of the classroom. There was no shuffling of feet, no picking up of books, no chatter. Instead those 50 young people sat in silence for nearly ten minutes. Afterward when we asked them what happened to them they replied, 'We don't know. Somehow Murray made us feel the importance of our task. We realized that we were going out to do something too big for us to do alone.'"

From India

Betty Strom writes from Belgaum, B.P., India: "I am teaching English, Bible, and physical education to the ninth standard in our high school here. Next to our bungalow is the girls' hostel, where Christian girls from the villages come to stay and go to school. They come from extremely poor families, and the missions has to furnish most of their clothes as well as their tuition. They all come to my room for I have the only big mirror on the place—girls are alike the world over. The older girls can speak and understand English. The little ones chatter away to me in their own language just as though I understood every word.

"I am also serving as adult advisor for our Student Christian Movement here. There are a number of colleges here so we have a nice group of Christian college students. During the Christmas holidays we had a conference in Hyderabad for the students of Pakistan, Ceylon, India, and Burma. I was especially pleased to hear Miss Muriel Lester and Dr. Harold Ehrensperger whom I had heard at Wesleyan. Dr. John Bennett from Union Theological Seminary spoke on 'Christianity and Communism.'

Communism is a big question in India, and in some villages Communists are causing trouble, but there is no hostility toward us missionaries.

"My work is most interesting and inspiring. I only hope I have been able to give half as much as I have gained!"

From Cuba

Nancy Black writes: "Ever since I came to Havana in September I have been wanting to write to you, but getting acquainted, learning the language, and teaching has taken all my time!

"Wish I could have been at Wesleyan for Homecoming. Lidia Soto and I spent the day talking and thinking about Wesleyan.

"My main responsibility is teaching the fifth grade. I teach everything from spelling to science, all in English. It continues to amaze me that little children here can learn English so well, and I'm still struggling with 'como esta usted'! I also have a class of high school girls in Bible, which is very interesting because I have girls of Catholic and Jewish backgrounds as well as Protestant.

"There are four of us 'new missionaries' here at Buenavista and we have various projects in connection with the Cuban mission work. My 'special' is a new mission in a very poor section of Marinao, where I have about 50 little boys and girls every Saturday and Sunday morning. My children write letters to 'Three Kings' at Christmas instead of to Santa Claus, and there are many customs which are different from ours. But the important thing is the united strength of Christian believers everywhere, which knows no language or cultural barriers.

"May God bless you all!"

from the spring. Mr. Foster's daughters are Virginia (Foster) Thurston, A.B. '45, and Betty Foster, now a freshman.

Religious Emphasis Week

Dr. Charles L. Allen of Atlanta, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, and his song leader, Bill Mann, conducted the Religious Emphasis Week programs in December. In addition to daily chapel services, the two held informal discussions with students while on the campus.

Home-Coming on the Campus

The annual "Home-Coming Week-End" in the fall brought back many Wesleyan alumnae, mainly those of the class of '50, but also some of other nearby classes. It is never possible to spot everybody who was present for one or more of the events. The Alumnae Office has these signatures in the guest book for the day: Joe Quillian, Anne Dodd, Midge Manson, Peggy Shefelton, Carolyn Red, Joyce Andrew, Mary Cobb, Emily J. Tanner, Ann Messink, Martha Ann Wood, Pat (Pope) Chilton, Jean (Logan) Russell, Betty Carthron, Nancy Asher, Bess Nunn, Charlotte Gaines, Myra Jane Holman.

The class of '49 had its own "reunion," too, going to town for lunch together. Together from this class were: Betty Fay Holt, Beth (Parker) Hunt, Virginia Callaway, Jane (Kendrick) Laurens, Marianne Coleman, Jerry (Griffith) Short, Marion Allison, Emmie Carlton, Emily (Hancock) Jones, Roslyn Atkinson, Clara Hillis, and Kate Haywood. They were delighted, naturally, at the red-and-white victory on the soccer field!

Speech Department Gives Second Play

The students of drama gave in January the second play of the season, Wilde's "Lady Windermere's Fan." Earlier in the year they gave Pirandello's "Right You Are if You Think You Are."

This is the second year that the students have used the arena-style production, with the small audiences seated around the stage, and the action taking place in the center. Macon audiences are most enthusiastic about the presentations.

Alumnae Council Meets

The Alumnae Council, a group of officers, class, and club leaders of the Association, met on the Rivoli campus on January 10 to formulate plans for the activities of the alumnae during the coming months, and were guests of the college in the dining room for lunch.

Florence (Trimble) Jones presided. Present were: Mary (Park) Polhill of

Briefs From The Campus

Five-Day Week Plan for Next School Year

Faculties of both Wesleyan campuses approved a new schedule of classes for next year (beginning September, 1951) operating on the semester system, five days a week. Classes will begin at 8:30 A.M. Two one-hour periods a week will be devoted to chapel programs; lunch will be served at an earlier hour; some labs will be held in the mornings. The change will give the education department, now being organized under Dr. Harvard Valance, a means of including hours for practice teaching.

A Lake on the Rivoli Campus

A seven-acre lake on the college campus, located back of the dormitory group of buildings, is the recent gift of Mr. Roy G. Foster of Wadley in memory of his wife. The lake, which will cost approximately $10,000, is nearing completion. Engineers estimate that it will take several months for it to fill with water

LaGrange, Bessie (Houser) Nunn of Perry, Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, Sue (Tanner) McKenzie, and Dessa (Hays) Asher of Atlanta, Ida (Shelnutt) Wyllie of Tennille, Virginia (Banks) St. John of Newnan, and the following Macon alumnae: Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, Hazel (Holmes) Burns, Elaine (Pridgen) Massey, Emma (Drew) Clay, Mary Jo Thompson, Irma (Clark) Newton, Frances (Stevens) Dessau, Lila May Chapman, Roberta (Jones) Gardiner, Margaret (Hall) Hazard, Lora (Waterman) Burke, Martha (Clark) Baker, Lydia (Tanner) Weaver, Ruth (Holt) Sheehan, Alice (Burden) Domingos, Alleen

Art Teacher Has Painting Chosen for Metropolitan

Miss Lucille Blanch of the art department was notified recently that her painting, "The Clown," had been chosen for exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. Miss Blanch has a painting, "Florida Wild Flowers" in the permanent collection of the Metropolitan, sold to the museum in 1938.

News From Former Faculty and Staff

Dr. Walter K. Greene

Dr. Greene, who was at Wesleyan as head of the English Department and academic dean in the 1920's and 1930's and who has served as president of Wofford College since 1942 and of Wofford and Columbia Colleges since 1948, has announced his plan to retire in August of this year. A dormitory building at Wofford, completed in 1950, has been named in honor of Dr. Greene. He was one of 10 Methodist leaders throughout the nation to be appointed to help form the National Council of Churches of Christ.

Miss Anne Chennault Wallace

Miss Wallace, who was head of the speech department for some years until 1935, lives now at Black Mountain, N. C., where she enjoys walking and entertaining her friends. She has sent to Wesleyan on several occasions books or other keepsakes she thought might be helpful, and only this fall sent some trinkets for the costume room, among these the brown wooden beads which many alumnae will remember seeing her wear. (She says that she enjoys hearing from her "old girls," but an accident to her eyes makes it difficult for her to write or read, so she cannot answer letters.)

Miss Loulie Barnett

Miss Barnett, A.B. 1908, for many years teacher of music at Wesleyan, now makes her home in Lakeland, Fla. She spends much of her time helping her brother, Fred, in his work as Executive Secretary of the United Florida Drys. They are delighted that during the past summer they won a glorious victory in their county of Polk. Loulie Barnett and a host of women workers sent out letters to the 42,000 voters of the county and saw that literature was placed in the 6,000 or more homes of Lakeland.

Mr. Marvin C. Quillian

Mr. Quillian, former head of the biology department, and Mrs. Quillian, live now in Austin, Texas, where they own a home at 3909 Speedway. A letter from her in the fall tells of visits they have had from her sister and only brother whom they had not seen since 1929. The Quillians will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in 1953 and are already planning a very special occasion for June 16 of that year.

Miss Anne Banks Armand

Miss Banks Armand, for many years bursar of Wesleyan, and since her retirement in this capacity a part-time helper in the Alumnae Office, had the misfortune to fall in her apartment shortly after Christmas. After a stay in the hospital and later with relatives in Savannah, she is recovering rapidly at her home, 963 High Street, Macon.

Alumna Pianist-Composer

Alberto (Denton) Marshall of Atlanta composed the music to a lyric, "Georgia," by Ollie Reeves, poet laureate of the state. The song was first presented to a dinner meeting of the Atlanta Writers' Club in October.

Alberto, who is prominent in musical circles, was convention chairman of music for the National Society of the Dames of the Court of Honor, and also for the Georgia Writers' Club. She studied under Dingley Brown at Wesleyan, and received the B.M. in 1914. Her mother, a widow at the time, took an apartment in Macon near the campus while her daughter was a student. After graduation at Wesleyan, Alberto studied at the New England Conservatory of Music, and then taught until her marriage to Andrew S. Marshall.

Her continuing love of music, and her loyalty to her Alma Mater bring much joy into her life.

About the First Regional Meeting of Alumnae

"The Roanoke meeting was a wonderful get-together, and I truly enjoyed every minute of it! If all the alumnae could only realize how good it is to be a part of such a meeting as we had, and could know of the true pleasure it affords they would all strive to attend whenever the opportunity presents itself. I only hope it will be possible for me to attend the meeting in Washington next year."

Wesleyan Graduate Publishes Second Volume of Verse

Nannette (Carter) Smith, A.B. '94, has published a second volume of her poems, this one called "Lines for Lindsey and Cut-Outs for Carter," dedicated to her three grandsons, Lindsey and Carter Hopkins, the sons of her daughter, Dorothy (Smith) Hopkins, Cons. '31, and Carter Smith, Jr., her son's son.

The book is illustrated with hand-cut silhouettes by George Hitt, the noted Toccoa, Georgia, artist, who surmounts practically insurmountable physical handicaps and is widely known for his beautiful silhouettes, and also for the fact that he writes for 12 Georgia newspapers.

Georgia's poet laureate, Ollie Reeves, says of this book: "On the surface, these are rippling little thought-currents for the amusement and interest of children, but depths are there, too. They are written for grandchildren everywhere, just as was Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland."

Nannette (Carter) Smith is a member of the National League of American Pen Women, the Georgia Writers Association, the Poetry Society of Georgia, the Atlanta Writers Club, and the Great Britain and American Poetry Society.

Both this volume, and her earlier "Until the Night" are on the Alumnae Book Shelf at Wesleyan, gifts from the author.

Atlanta Club Honors Wesleyan President

Atlanta Alumnae entertained with a luncheon on February 3 with President Silas Johnson as guest speaker. Daisy Weathers, president of the student government organization on the Rivoli campus, and Diana Roberts, president of this organization on the conservatory campus, spoke. A representative group of high school seniors were guests of the club for the occasion.

GLYNN COUNTY WESLEYAN CLUB

The Brunswick-Glynn County Wesleyan club elected new officers at their last meeting. President of the club, succeeding Sarah Hammons, is Constance (Smith) Sherman, 1948. Other officers are: Betty (Little) Smith, 1938, vice-president; and Mary Beth Lockwood, 1947, secretary-treasurer.

WASHINGTON, D. C. WESLEYAN CLUB

Louise (Rainey) Price, the retiring president of the Washington, D. C. Club, sent in this report of the work of the club during her administration:

"We made meticulous plans for a picnic to be held in lovely Rock Creek Park last June, to include husbands and children of alumnae as well as the members themselves. At the appointed hour there came a heavy downpour of rain! We were fortunate in having Odille (Dasher) Phelts who kindly arranged with her husband, the Rev. R. Raymond Phelts, to let us have the picnic in the recreation hall of his church, Ingram Memorial Congregational. Many alumnae could not get there, but those who did had a lot of fun getting to know one another's families. And we were able to send a check to the college for the scholarship fund.

"On October 14 we held our first fall meeting at the University Women's Club, and Dr. Sara (Branham) Matthews delighted us with the speech she gave at Wesleyan on graduation day, 'The Proof of the Pudding.'

"Several of our club went to Roanoke, Virginia, in October to the first Regional Meeting of alumnae in this area. Suelle (McKellar) Swartz had done a grand job of planning, and we enjoyed every minute of it. We hope to plan for the next meeting in Washington.

"On December 9 the club met at the University Women's Club, with the Rev. H. Raymond Phelts as our speaker.

"A new slate of officers was elected as follows: president, Thelma Williams, '14; vice-president, Martha (Barron) Stecher, '32; corresponding secretary, Carol Arnold, '25; recording secretary, Pearl (Coleman) Sloan, '01; treasurer, Agnes Leverette, '02; program chairman, Odille (Dasher) Phelts, '30; telephone chairman, Annette (Richardson) Chappell, '29."

Wesleyan President Appointed Delegate To Conference

Dr. Silas Johnson, president of Wesleyan, was appointed one of the small number of delegates from Georgia to the Eighth Methodist Ecumenical Conference to be held in Oxford, England, in August.

Other delegates include: Dr. Goodrich C. White, president of Emory and trustee of Wesleyan; Mr. Julian Strickland of Valdosta, Mr. Abbott Turner of Columbus, Mr. William N. Banks of LaGrange, and Dr. Lester Rumble of Atlanta, all Wesleyan trustees.

THE LOYALTY FUND TO DATE

As the magazine goes to press, 216 alumnae and three club groups have given to the 1950-51 Loyalty Fund a total of $2,284.34.

The average gift is slightly more than $15; gifts range from $1.00 to $135.00.

Already half of the fiscal year of the fund has passed! Put your Alma Mater into your thinking and into your budget for the coming months, for "to be deeply rooted in a place that has meaning is probably the greatest gift one can have."

One of Wesleyan's Chinese Graduates Works With the American Government for Her Country

Mary (Euyang) Loh, A.B. 1946, first recipient of the Madame Chiang Kai-shek Scholarship awarded by the North Georgia Laymen's Association for a Wesleyan student, is on the staff of the Economic Cooperation Administration in Washington, D. C., helping to get information to the Asian people about the American Aid Program.

Mary has been with ECA since it began its China program in June, 1948, serving with its Shanghai, Canton, and Formosa offices.

Mary's marriage to David Loh took place in the Wesleyan parlors shortly after her graduation, and she went home as a happy bride to her country. Only a few years later, David was killed in an automobile accident in which Mary and her baby son were injured. Now Mary and her child are back in America, as are her mother and her sister, Gloria, of the Wesleyan class of 1948.

Sympathy is extended to Blanche (Hall) Neel in the death of her husband, Joseph N. Neel, prominent Macon merchant, in November.

Nina (Grest) Clarke has always been active in her church and community in Jesup, Ga. Her late husband, Judge D. M. Clarke, was honored recently by having a bronze plaque placed in the Methodist church in memory of his outstanding work in the development of the church.

Zoe (Campbell) McKay is not very strong, and makes her home with her son, Sam, Jr., who is a deacon in the Gastonia, N. C. Presbyterian Church, and is chairman of the county Red Cross.

Sympathy is extended to Maude (McCrary) Talbird in the death of her brother, DeWitt McCrary, in November.

Word has reached the Alumnae Office of the death in Darlington, S. C. on December 12 of Pauline (Spain) Thompson.

1889

Carrie Sessions had the misfortune to break her hip some months ago, but is recovering in a Marietta hospital.

1892

Emmie (Greene) Brannon, whose death in November brought sadness to many friends in Talbotton and Columbus, was a member of a pioneer Talbot County family. She was very active in St. Luke Methodist Church in Columbus for over half a century, and was a loyal Wesleyan alumna and worker in the Columbus Club. She is survived by a son and five daughters, six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

1893

Rosalie Wade (Marshall) Mitchell lives in her own home in Tifton. She has three sons and one daughter, all married, and she has eight grandchildren. Her comment, written at the end of this bit of news of herself is: "Life is wonderful, and I do love Wesleyan!"

1894

Bettie Lou (Carey) Bloodworth has a son and two daughters and ten grandchildren, five boys and five girls.

Ella (Pate) Carson is a widow living in Tifton, Ga. She has six sons, four of them living in Tifton, and seven grandchildren.

Fannie (Collins) Mitchell lives in Homeland, Fla.

1897

Sympathy is extended to Ruth Clark in the death of her brother, Osgood Clark, in December, and to Laura (Clark) Leonard, his daughter, 1932. He was a son of the late Ella (Anderson) Clark, A.B. '62.

Harriet (Goodman) Harman says she has the same enthusiasm in her heart for Wesleyan that she had in 1898, and enjoys the meetings of the alumnae club in Tifton as much as do the youngest members. She makes her home with her daughter, Harriet (Evans) Southwell, A.B. '25, and her son, Allen Harman, lives just a few doors away. She has one grandson.

In November the Georgia city of Americus celebrated "Steve Pace Day," honoring Representative Pace who was to retire on January 1 after 14 years as Third District Congressman. Among those in the audience were the congressman's sisters, Genie (Pace) Bell of Atlanta and Vesta (Pace) Crews of Daytona Beach, Fla., both of the class of '98.

Wesleyan friends will be grieved to learn of the death in January of Susie (Stevens) Janes of Atlanta. She is survived by a daughter, a sister, and two grandchildren.

1901

Wesleyan was grieved to learn of the death of Emma (Gary) Lee on November 13 of a heart attack in St. Augustine, Fla. She was the widow of the Rev. George Lee of the South Carolina Conference. She went as a missionary to China in 1893, and spent eleven years in that country where she was associated with Dr. Young J. Allen and Laura Haygood, Wesleyan alumna, in the work. In 1901 she was a delegate to the Ecumenical Conference in London.

1903

Sympathy is extended to Myrtle (Fennell) Waldo in the death of her 35-year-old son, Selden Fennell Waldo of Gainesville in December. He was prominent in civic, religious, and legal activities in Gainesville, Florida, was formerly president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, former municipal judge and member of the Florida board of bar examiners, Phi Beta Kappa, steward of the First Methodist Church. He is survived also by a wife and two small sons, and an aunt, Alma Fennell, '08.

The class of 1904 will be grieved to learn of the death of Tommie Louise (Turner) Craft on January 11 in Anderson, S. C. after a long illness. She was one of Wesleyan's most loyal alumnae. She helped each year as a Class Fund Agent for 1904, and even this fiscal year sent out ten of the Loyalty Fund letters to her classmates. She is survived by her husband and two children, Jack G., Jr. of Anderson and Mrs. W. H. Airey, Jr. of Bogota, Colombia, two brothers and one sister. Her husband has extensive hotel interests in the South.

Septima Snowden lives in Scarsdale, N. Y. (where her sister, Adele (Snowden) Haywood also makes her home). She finds her work most interesting—typing authors' manuscripts. Recently she has done three books by three interesting writers, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, Dr. Henry C. Link, nationally known psychologist, and Brendan Gill of the editorial staff of The New Yorker, whose first book, "The Trouble of One House" has had very favorable reviews in the best New York papers. Septima enjoys her contact with the writers, and treasures a bookshelf of autographed volumes which she typed.

Sympathy is extended to Virginia Estelle (Darden) Bell in the death of her father, Dr. Horace Darden, in November. He was the oldest graduate of the University of Georgia Medical School, and practiced in Sparta until a few years ago.

Mozelle King makes her home with a widowed sister in Midway, Ala., where she also has four brothers. She worked with her father in his bank until 1941, and later with the King Mercantile Company until 1945. She writes that she is sometimes plagued by neuritis, and last winter spent several weeks in Florida soaking up sunshine. Her Loyalty Fund check is given in memory of "Mrs. Ria M. Burks," beloved former teacher at Wesleyan.

Sympathy is extended to Gena Riley in the death of her brother, A. C. Riley of Ft. Valley, in January.

Mattie (Chappell) Lawton and her husband, now retired, are living in New Orleans, at 1519 Joseph Street. Last summer they rented a cottage near Dillard, Ga., and enjoyed seeing again their Georgia friends. They plan to build a cottage there.

Dr. Ella Clare McKellar of Tifton says that her vacation last summer consisted of attending her Wesleyan class reunion, the WSCS meeting in Brunswick, and the mission school at Wesleyan Conservatory.

Sympathy is extended to Regina (Rambo) Murph in the death of her husband in December. He was a brother of Irene (Murph) Banks, '02.
